UNIVERSITY REGISTRATION

Registration is an essential process for all students to complete at the beginning of each academic year, which involves three parts: online registration, onsite registration and financial registration.

ONLINE REGISTRATION

You will be required to provide and verify your personal and academic information online via e-Bridge (https://ebridge.xjtlu.edu.cn). The information you need to confirm includes your personal and academic details, and you should also update your home address and emergency contact information to ensure you or your designated contact could be reached in any emergency. Please note that the emergency contact information will be kept confidential and only be used for communication during emergencies.

Until your online registration is completed, you will not be able to access any functions on e-Bridge, including class and exam timetables, module marks, and transcript and certificate requests, etc.

Normally, late registration onto a programme will not be allowed after the beginning of the first teaching week of the semester.

It is important that you provide the University with a valid mobile phone number, your home address and your emergency contact details whilst you are completing your online registration on e-Bridge. Your School/Academy, Academic Adviser, Development Adviser will be able to provide timely support for you based on the most-up-to-date information, when there is a need, especially in case of an emergency situation.

If you need to update the information (date of birth, name or gender etc.) after completion of Online Registration, please submit a Personal Information Change Application in "My profile" Section on e-Bridge.

ONSITE REGISTRATION

All new Master's students are required to attend onsite registration in person at the beginning of week 0 of Semester 1 each academic year. According to the XJTLU Student Administration Regulations, the University will conduct a verification check for all new Master's students during the onsite registration. You will need to prepare and bring the following documents for the verification check:

- Your Chinese national ID card (for Chinese Mainland students) or Passport (for international and Chinese Hong Kong, Taiwan, Macau students)

- Your original educational qualification(s) (Bachelor's degree certificate and/or Master's degree certificate)

- Your original English language certificate (if required)

New Master's students are also required to complete a health check according to the time slot indicated on the health check form. You will be able to collect your health check form during the onsite registration and complete the health check according to the time slot indicated on your health check form. At the end of the registration process, you will be able to collect your Master's Admission Certificate and Student Card. If, due to unforeseen circumstances, you are unable to register onsite before the start of your Master's programme, you may contact your Admissions Officer for prior advice. Enrolment is not allowed after the end of week 1 of Semester 1.

If, at the time of onsite registration, it is suspected that any documents are false, fraudulent or inaccurate, the University reserves the right to suspend the student registration and a further investigation will take place to determine whether the suspicion is justified. The matter will be referred under the University's student disciplinary procedures. If it is determined that the student has gained admission to the programme by using false, fraudulent or inaccurate information in his/her application, it is likely that the University would terminate the student's studies.

FINANCIAL REGISTRATION

Master's students should complete the annual financial registration by paying the tuition fees and other fees charged.

You should pay your tuition fees as per dates notified by the University. The deadline for your financial registration is the end of Week 0 of Semester 1 every academic year. You will normally not be able to start your studies until fees have been paid. Students who have not paid the tuition fee 2 weeks after the due date in spite of repeated reminders from the University will be suspended or deregistered from the University. Exceptional approval may be sought from the University for an instalment plan where there are real financial difficulties in meeting the payment deadlines.

ACADEMIC INDUCTION

Induction is pivotal for a successful and satisfying experience during your time at XJTLU. The University views induction as a transition from one identity to another. It will also play a key role in supporting you during the first year of registration. The induction will help by fostering a supportive environment and giving you opportunities to meet a range of contacts, which can include other master's students, Programme Director, module leaders and administrative staff.

Your induction will take place at the commencement of your programme and will consist of an introduction to the research environment and a formal induction event coordinated by the XJTLU Graduate School and academic units.

03 MY STUDY AT XJTLU

PROGRAMMES AND MODULES

All XJTLU master's programmes involve a combination of individual research and taught modules. Master of Research and Taught Master's and Professional programmes focus on the development of advanced knowledge and research skills where the majority of activities comprise independent research supported by structured assessed modules. The award of Master of Research requires successful completion of 60 or 80 credits, which include a minimum of 20 or 40 credits of taught modules plus 40 or 60 credits of research project or dissertation module(s). The Taught Master's and Professional programme requires successful completion of 60 or 80 credits, which include 40 to 60 credits taught modules and 20 or 40 credits of project or dissertation module(s).

Taught Master's programmes involve both a substantial piece(s) of independent work, and a range of assessed modules, which is normally comprised of 60 or 80 credits, 40 credits of taught modules and 20 or 40 credits of research (project or dissertation). The language of teaching and assessment at XJTLU is English for all master's programmes.

PROGRAMME AND MODULE MODIFICATIONS

The University is committed to the ongoing development and improvement of its programmes, taking account of developments in the discipline and pedagogic practice, and ensures that all modifications to programmes and/or modules, or the introduction of new modules should follow relevant university guidelines and processes which are benchmarked against the UK's Quality Assurance Agency's (QAA) expectations about programme monitoring and review.

All updated programme and module specifications are regularly published on e-Bridge: https://ebridge.xjtlu.edu.cn/

MODULE ENROLMENT

Modules can be compulsory or optional. Compulsory modules are those that you must take as specified in your programme specification and they provide content for meeting the learning outcomes of the programme. An optional module is one that you can choose from among alternatives as per your programme specification. To choose a certain optional module, you may need to take another module which is labelled as a prerequisite module.

You will be automatically registered to all compulsory modules and depending on your programme of study you may be required to select optional module(s). If you are not sure which modules to take, you should in the first instance discuss the options with your programme director. Change of optional module(s) will only be allowed if places are available on the module and if the teaching timetable can accommodate the revised module combination. However, such change will normally not be allowed after two teaching weeks from the start of teaching in the semester.

EXTENDED STUDIES SCHEME

Extended Studies Scheme (ESS) is a new form of education provision of XJTLU whereby students are provided with the opportunity to study credit-bearing modules that are not part of their enrolled programme of study, and do not count toward the degree requirements of their enrolled programme of study. Through ESS, students are able to pursue academic interests in wider disciplinary areas to learn new knowledge and skills which would assist them in developing academic potential as well as career opportunities.

For details on ESS, please refer to the Guideline for ESS on e-Bridge (Timetables Page – Class Timetables – Useful Information).

ATTENDANCE

You are expected to attend all timetabled activities for your programme of study, including off-campus activities. If your projected overall attendance balance drops below 70%, you will be required to provide explanations with good grounds and valid evidence, otherwise your case will be referred to the University Progress Committee to consider on whether to suspend your study.

ASSESSMENTS AND EXAMINATIONS

MARKING SCHEME

The University adopts a British marking and degree classification scheme within Chinese Higher Education System. 50% is the pass mark for all modules in master's programmes of study. Where the average total marks in all taught modules is 50% or above, a mark of 40-49% shall be deemed compensatable in only one taught module of 5 credits. Compensation shall not be applied where more than 5 credits are failed.

MARKING DESCRIPTORS

The University has general requirements for work at master's level. Marking descriptors have been established as guides to both staff and students about what is normally expected of work receiving a particular mark. The overarching standards set govern the interpretation of the performance criteria for specific courses. Each academic unit may also have its own set of qualitative marking descriptors which describe what each mark range represents in terms of student achievement in that particular subject.

MARKING AND MODERATION

The University employs anonymous marking wherever practicable. After the final examinations, final module marks and a sample of students' work are reviewed by the XJTLU internal moderator, a moderator at the University of Liverpool and an external examiner. The purpose of this scrutiny is to ensure that the marks have been awarded fairly and consistently, with regard to Chinese and UK standards. The marks are then submitted to the board of examiners in the relevant academic units for final approval, before they are published on e-Bridge.

ASSESSMENT: COURSEWORK AND EXAMINATION

Assessment can be:

- Formative - you receive feedback on your work, but the marks do not count towards your final module mark, or

- Summative - the mark you are awarded contributes towards your final module mark.

Each module is assessed independently, typically through a combination of examinations and coursework. The precise combination will vary from module to module.

You will be given details of the assessment requirements for each module by the module leader, and you could also check that information from the Module Handbooks or the Module Specifications on e-Bridge.

COURSEWORK

Coursework refers to assessments for which instructions are given in advance and students have days, weeks, or months to prepare the submission during the course of the semester.

You should submit all coursework required for your modules following module examiner's instructions; If you submit coursework after the deadline, you will be penalized:

- 5% of the total marks available for the assessment will be deducted from the assessment mark for each working day after the submission deadline, up to a maximum of five working days

- Coursework received more than five working days after the submission deadline will receive a mark of zero.

Note: You should be aware that module examiners might use your coursework for education purposes. Module examiners sometimes use past student work to illustrate both positive and negative examples of academic quality. In such instances, the module examiner is expected to take steps to keep your identity confidential and anonymous.

EXAMINATION

Some modules will have final examinations which are normally used as a summative method of assessment and take place at the end of the semester in which a module is taught. The exam period is published in the University's Academic Calendar. You should take care not to arrange any other activities during this period, and you should attend all examinations required for your modules.

REASSESSMENT

Students shall be allowed for re-assessment opportunity in the failed module(s). Reassessment should take place no later than 12 months after the date of the failed assessment, normally within the registration period.

Immediately after the School/Academy Board of Examiners approves the re-assessment opportunity, the resubmission of Continuously Assessed Work may take place. In normal cases, only one re-assessment opportunity is permitted for the first attempt failure(s). Marks achieved in the re-assessment shall be recorded as the actual mark. However, the mark shall be flagged on the transcript, indicating that it was achieved at a second or subsequent attempt. In the case of a dissertation, the re-assessment must normally be the same dissertation topic as originally assigned.

Note: Some modules may not offer a resit opportunity.

MITIGATING CIRCUMSTANCES

Your participation in summative assessments for credit-bearing modules sometimes might be impeded by particular unforeseen or unexpected circumstances beyond your control. These circumstances are described as 'Mitigating Circumstance', and can include:

- Serious illness affecting the student

- Bereavement of a close family member

- Serious illness affecting a close family member

- Unforeseeable or unpreventable events

However, the following will NOT be regarded as mitigating circumstances:

- Failure to attend an examination due to misreading the examination timetable

- Events such as holidays and weddings

- Inadequate planning and time management

- Having more than one examination on the same day

- Clashes with tests, examinations, or other activities organized by internal or external bodies

- Pressures from paid employment

- Any event that could reasonably have been expected or anticipated

- Minor illness or illness not regarded as relevant to the case

There are two different situations when the University will consider students' mitigating circumstances.

The first is in relation to formally timetabled examinations scheduled and supervised by the University and take place during the published examination periods on the University Academic Calendar, including final (end-of-semester) examinations and re-sit examinations. If you believe that events that might be defined as mitigating circumstances have had, or will have, an adverse effect on yourability to participate in an examination, you shouldapply for authorized absence from the examination by completing the relevant form and submitting it formally with supporting evidence on e-Bridge at least two working days before the examination date to the Registry.

The second is in relation tosubmission of coursework. If you experience illness or other serious unforeseen circumstances before a coursework deadline and which prevent you from submitting the coursework by the set deadline, you may apply for an extension to that deadline.

You should submit the form of Request for Extension of Coursework Submission Deadline with supporting documentation before the coursework deadline and submit it to your School/ Academy Assessment Coordinator or Departmental Examinations Officer who will determine whether or not your circumstances warrant an extension to the deadline. If you are in Stage 1, such applications should be submitted to the Examinations Officer for the academic unit that delivers the modules.

CONDUCT OF EXAMINATIONS

The University is committed to fostering an examination environment that supports academic integrity.

Students who are suspected of engaging in any of the following behaviours during an examination will be investigated by the University Student Board of Discipline:

- Disobeying the instructions of an invigilator, or disrupting the progress of an examination

- Possessing or using unauthorised items without communication functions on their desktop, in their drawer or on their person; or accessing unauthorised online materials; or having examination-related content written on any part of their body or on other objects including, but not limited to, tissue papers, calculators, rulers, water bottles, pens, desks, and chairs during the examination

- Using or attempting to use electronic devices with data storage or communication function during the examinatioin, including, but not limited to, mobile phone, smart watches, smart earphones, and smart glasses

- Removing any part of the examination materials from the examination room without permission

- Any other form of seeking or providing assistance in communicating questions and answers during examinations, whether directly or indirectly

- Attempting to organize cheating activities, or engaging in the sale or purchase of exam questions and answers for profit

- Impersonating other students or being impersonated to sit the exam.

The penalties may be varied depending upon the severity of the offence and may include one or a combination of the following :

- Written warning

- Award a zero mark for the exam

- Award a zero mark for the module mark with normal resit rules of the related modules being applicable

- Award a zero mark for the module mark without a resit opportunity

- Suspension for 1 year

- Termination of studies

- Disqualified for any prize or scholarship of the University for two consecutive academic years

All students should familiarize themselves with the Regulations for the Conduct of Examinations before their examinations and abide by it strictly in the conduct of each examination.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

The University aims to foster a learning environment which produces students who embrace academic integrity, understand that they must produce their own work, are able to acknowledge explicitly any material that has been included from other sources or legitimate collaboration, and to present their own findings, conclusions or data based on appropriate and ethical practice.

The University will support you to understand the standards of academic integrity, while you are responsible for learning and upholding professional standards of research, writing, assessment, and ethics in your area of study. Violation of academic integrity comes in many forms, including but not limited to the following:

- Minor errors: forget to insert quotation mark, minor mistakes in referencing or citation, gaps in the bibliography or reference list, etc.

- Collusion

- Copying

- Submission of commissioned or procured coursework

- Dishonest use of data

- Plagiarism

Any violation of academic integrity is a serious offence and is therefore subject to an appropriate penalty. According to the individual case and the seriousness of the offence, penalties applied will vary and may include one or a combination of the following:

- A mark penalty or a zero mark for the assessment
- A zero mark for the module
- Suspension of studies
- Termination of studies

In addition to the respective penalty imposed, you may also be given feedback on how to avoid further offence in future work.

EXTERNAL EXAMINERS AND QUALITY ASSURANCE

The University is responsible for the quality and standards of all academic awards made in its and UoL's name. The function of external examiners is to assist the University in discharging its responsibility by providing assurance in their expert judgement that the standards of all awards at XJTLU are comparable to those in similar subjects at University of Liverpool and in other universities in the UK.

All assessments contributing 1 credit or more (e.g. 20% of a 5-credit module) towards the final module mark and at least 60% of the assessment component of the module are reviewed by an internal moderator, external examiner, and Liverpool moderator to ensure fairness and maintain standards.

After the final examinations, final module marks and a sample of students' work are reviewed by the XJTLU internal moderator, an external examiner and/or a moderator at the University of Liverpool. The purpose of this scrutiny is to ensure that the marks have been awarded fairly and consistently, with regard to Chinese and UK standards. The marks are then submitted to the Board of Examiners in the relevant academic units for final approval, before they are published on e-Bridge.

Note that: Marks for modules completed at the end of the first semester are released to you after the approval of the Spring Board of Examiners but are labelled as 'provisional', as they are subject to scrutiny by the summer Board of Examiners.

ASSESSMENT APPEALS

You have the right to appeal against progression decision or the classification of your degree.

YOU CAN APPEAL ON THE FOLLOWING GROUNDS:

- That there has been a material administrative error or other material irregularity
- That assessments were not conducted in accordance with the current regulations governing the course of study
- That there was a procedural error in a ruling of the breach of the XJTLU Academic Integrity Policy
- That performance in the assessment was adversely affected by illness or other significant factors which for good reason the student was unable to present to the Mitigating Circumstances Committee.

YOU MAY NOT APPEAL ON GROUNDS:

- Which have already been considered by the Board of Examiners or the Degree Evaluation Board
- Which dispute the academic judgement of the relevant Board of Examiners or Module Examiners
- Which could have been considered prior to the meeting of the relevant Board of Examiners, but the student has no good reason for having failed to present them.

Any questions about module marks or component marks should be addressed to the Module Leader for feedback in the first instance and it is not subject to Assessment Appeal.

RESEARCH PUBLICATIONS AND INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

AUTHORSHIP AND AFFILIATION

Authorship confers credit and has important academic, social, and financial implications. Authorship also implies responsibility and accountability for published work. Listing the authors tells readers who did the work and should ensure that the right people get the credit – and take responsibility – for the research.

The correct and consistent use of a Xi'an Jiaotong-Liverpool University (XJTLU, the University) institutional affiliation in research publications is the only way to relate an XJTLU researcher to the University. Therefore, it is of utmost importance to correctly mention the affiliation name in your research publications.

You can refer to the Guidelines on Institutional Affiliation in Research Publications published by the XJTLU Library for more detailed guidelines.

RESEARCH ETHICS

XJTLU is fully committed to the advancement of high quality academic research and to carrying out its research within a comprehensive ethical framework. Research which involves human (including human participants, survey respondent, human genetic resources and personal data) or animals will always require formal ethical consideration. It is the University's expectation that staff, students, visitors, collaborators and agents who undertake research under the auspices of XJTLU should be aware of ethical considerations, ensure that they act in an ethical manner to the highest possible ethical standards.

You shall be familiar with the XJTLU Policy on Ethical conduct in Research and related external policies/regulations, and your supervisor shall endorse your application prior to the submission of ethics applications. A project which requires ethical review must not commence research until the XJTLU ethical approval letter and all other required approval/specific license/qualification from relevant authorities had been obtained. Serious cases of failing to apply for ethical approval or deviating from the approved project will be subjected to the University's established misconduct procedures.

Applications for ethical clearance in XJTLU are required to be submitted by your supervisor at XJTLU on Research Ethics Application System under the Research Support page on e-Bridge.

XJTLU is committed to undertaking a rigorous and independent ethical review process that is proportionate to the potential risk. Please note that a relatively straightforward ethics review should ideally take approximately ten working days or fifteen working days based on different ethical assessment risks.

XJTLU Policy on Ethical Conduct in Research can be found at https://academicpolicy.xjtlu.edu.cn//article.php?id=35

RESEARCH INTEGRITY

XJTLU attaches great importance to the promotion of research integrity and the handling of research integrity misconduct and disciplinary procedures. Students should follow the national regulations and University's policy when conducting all kinds of research activities carried out under the auspices of XJTLU, including scholarly writing, implementation of research, intellectual property, academic exchanges, as well as the application, review and assessment of research platforms, research projects, research rewards, etc.

Students who violate the regulations and policies for conducting research activities, the investigation and disciplinary procedures of misconduct in research are implemented under the XJTLU Policy on Research Integrity.

Students who wish to publish papers that do not involve XJTLU academic staff as co-authors must sign the 'Letter of Commitment for Students Conducting Research' and obtain the approval of the corresponding School, Academy or College before submitting the paper to a journal for publication.

The guidance and policy on XJTLU Research Integrity can be found at
https://academicpolicy.xjtlu.edu.cn/article.php?id=101

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY AND CONFIDENTIALITY

Research often gives rise to the creation of impactful Intellectual Property (IP) in the form of, but not limited to: patents; copyright; know-how; registered trademarks; registered designs; and unregistered designs. Students are encouraged to publish their research work in journals or via other media with the agreement of their supervisor and subject to the XJTLU Intellectual Property Policy of the University and any appropriate prior IP protection. Where a student is sponsored by a third party, the terms of that sponsorship may override ownership by the University and may require the student to assign IP to the sponsor.

During the course of your studies or research you may have access to confidential information belonging to the University or a third party. You must not use such confidential information other than in connection with your studies or research (and then only upon such terms and conditions as may have been agreed) and must not without the prior consent of the University or the third party to whom it belongs disclose such confidential information.

The XJTLU Policy on Intellectual Property Rights can be found at

PROGRESSION, DEGREE AND AWARDS

PROGRESS OF STUDENTS

The University implements a Student Progress Committee mechanism to monitor student performance and to investigate any reasons for an individual student's inability to make satisfactory progress in their studies.

There are two layers of the system.

The School/Academy Progress Committee takes the responsibility to monitor performance of students whose progress gives cause for concern, to give a written warning to individual students related to their progress, where appropriate, and summon the student to attend an interview to receive appropriate advice related to the importance of improving academic performance and possible remedial action.

If there is evidence of continued absence from classes or other scheduled module activities or habitual absence from assessments, the School/Academy Progress Committee will advise the student in writing that the Committee intends to recommend that the student be declared "unsatisfactory", that is, to recommend that the student's studies at XJTLU be terminated.

The University Progress Committee acts as a scrutinising and regularising committee in respect of progress procedures throughout the University, and approves, or otherwise, recommendations put forward by Schools/Academies or Registry that a student be declared unsatisfactory or be recorded as withdrawn, and not to be re-registered without permission.

DEGREE AND AWARDS

Postgraduate Support Team is one of the teams in XGS and provides support and guidance to both Master's and doctoral students.

TRANSITION TO XJTLU: PRE-ARRIVAL COURSE FOR MASTER'S STUDENTS

To prepare for the arrival of new Master's students in each September and help the new students prepare for a better adaptation to postgraduate studies at XJTLU, the Graduate School develops a pre-arrival course named "Transition to XJTLU", specifically designed for newly-admitted XJTLU Master's students. The course mainly consists of the following parts:

XJTLU ADVISING SYSTEM

PROGRAMME DIRECTOR (PD) AND ACADEMIC ADVISER (AA)

The University implements a straightforward, institution-wide system for the provision of academic and career guidance and the monitoring of student performance.

For each master's programme, the Programme Director is responsible for the development, organisation and leadership of the programme and for the academic experience of the students on that programme. Programme Directors ensure that appropriate and effective processes and procedures are in place, and students on the particular programme are provided with sufficient academic support.

You will also be assigned an Academic Adviser who will provide guidance and support to your academic and career development. The Academic Advisor will advise you on academic related matters such as selecting elective modules and planning for your postgraduate studies and career. If you encounter any academic challenges, you may reach out to your Academic Advisor for guidance and support. The contact information of your Academic Adviser can be found on e-Bridge.

STUDENT DEVELOPMENT ADVISER (DA)

Student Development Adviser plays three main roles as ADVISER, FACILIATOR, and COORDINATOR. DA provides support and guidance to students who seek advice, or encounter difficulties or potential risks. At the Student Development Advice Centre (SDAC), we also strive to facilitate activities and coordinate resources, both internal and external, to help students' personal growth.

If you face any challenges or issues related to your life or personal development, you can approach your Development Adviser. Taking into account your specific circumstances and the available campus resources, DA will offer necessary suggestions and assistance with respect and trust. It is important to note that DAs aim to create a supportive environment for student development and will not excessively interfere with your life.

You can find your DA's information on e-Bridge or contact the SDAC via sda@xjtlu.edu.cn.

Feedback may be gathered in a variety of ways.

If your concern is about a specific module and the syllabus or the teaching, raise these issues in a constructive manner with your Module Leader. He or she is in the best place to respond to you about the feasibility of making a change. Another way to give feedback is the Module Questionnaire. Your module leader will provide you with the details on how to complete these questionnaires at the end of each semester. This questionnaire is an important way for the module leader and the academic units to consider the module and any improvements that could be made in the future. It is important that all students complete these questionnaires - a high response rate increases the validity of the feedback.

If you have other suggestions about your programme or about any aspect of your academic unit's academic environment, contact the Student Representatives on your Student-Staff Liaison Committee in your department or centre.

Where the issue is more general in nature, and of interest to students in several departments, you should bring it to the attention of your Student Representatives on the Learning and Teaching Committee or Academic Board. These committees have student representatives as well as staff representatives from every department and centre, and from many support offices on campus. They meet regularly throughout the year, and are important committees to the University. The election of student representatives will normally be conducted at the beginning of each academic year. More information about student representatives, please email CommitteeServices@xjtlu.edu.cn.

Finally, if your concern is about the quality of service provided by the support offices on campus, you should feel free to raise this to the attention of the leader of the service office.

COMPLAINTS

Complaints are best dealt with informally, by addressing them directly to the individual concerned or the person who has responsibility for the area concerned. For a complaint which is of a general rather than specific nature, it may be more appropriate to ask the relevant student representative to raise it at the Student-Staff Liaison Committee or other appropriate Committee or group. If you are dissatisfied with the responses, you should submit a written complaint to the Head of Academic Units or to the line manager or Vice President for Academic Affairs who will investigate the complaint.

You may seek advice from the Development Adviser (DA) for any uncertainty regarding whom to approach at this stage. If you are still dissatisfied with the outcome and wish to take the matter further, then you may use the official complaints procedure. You should refer the matter formally in writing to the relevant Vice President for further investigation and consideration.
